

Dedicated to my beloved
MENTOR and
My PARENTS...

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

This long, strenuous, wonderful, learning, and at the same time, the enjoyable journey would not have been contented without the support of some person. Only a single acknowledgement portion would not be high enough to enlist the supporters and so, I want to raise the names of those persons obvious benefaction. At this important moment, first and foremost, I venerate my mentor, Late Prof. Asru K. Sinha, D.Sc. who was not only my research guide, but also up-skilled me about the philosophy of life which help me to overcome the hurdles. His passion and love for science overwhelmed me and I have learned a lot of things from him. I also faced a hard time, and then I got an unconditional support from him. Despite his continuous ailment, he helped to review my manuscript and work progress and deliver his valuable inputs. I got a confidence and have started to believe that I can do it. Actually, he inculcated research spirit in me. His work and dedication for research will always motivate me and I believe that I would be able to walk through the path laid by his noble thoughts. And I am dedicating this thesis work to him. I am obviously very grateful to my another adviser Dr. Smarajit Maiti, Dept. of Biochemistry, Cell and Molecular Therapeutics Laboratory, Oriental Institute of Science and Technology, Vidyasagar University, Midnapore for guiding me support throughout this long journey with his essential suggestions, comments and guided me to do the research in a proper direction. I could not have been reached here without his continuous supports and he also provided me required work table and infrastructure-resources. I will not be able to forget his supports during my tough time and he tried to create a work environment always during my research tenure. His guidance undoubtedly smoothed my journey and I express my sincere gratitude to him. I am very much thankful to my other supervisor Prof. Subrata Kumar De, Dept. of Zoology, Vidyasagar

University, Midnapore for picking me as one of his scholars at the censorious stage of my PhD work. I also got many supports, inputs and help from him when required.

I am grateful to Prof. Manuela Zaccolo, Dept. of Physiology, Anatomy & Genetics, University of Oxford and her student Dr. Andreas Koschinski for their support to successfully complete the short-term PhD programme. I am very much thankful to Prof. Santanu Guha, Department of Cardiology, Calcutta Medical College & Hospital for his special co-operation by providing the acute myocardial infarction blood samples and clinical data analysis. I want also to mention Dr. Raja Bhattacharya, Dept. of Medicine, for the stroke experiment. I am thankful to Prof. Amiya Kumar Panda & Prof. Amit K. Das for their constructive criticism on my work. I am also grateful to Prof. Udayan Ray, Royal Hobart Hospital, Australia, Prof. Krishnendu Acharya, University of Calcutta for their support and encouragement and Dr. Gausal A. Khan for his help. Specially, I am grateful to Dr. GV Girish for his enormous supports and inputs at the critical moments. I am very much thankful to Prof. Partha Chakrabarty of IICB for allowing me to take the reading from his laboratory instrument. I am thankful to Mrs. Dipika Roy and Dr. T. K. Dhar of Indian Institute of Chemical Biology for their kind support and cooperation. I am also thankful to Dr. Dipak Pal for allowing me to use the fluorescent microscopic for my research work. I would like to thank my co-workers in my laboratory for their supports, discussions and working together many sleepless nights and for all the fun we have had in the last five years which I would never forget. Their assistance in the laboratory and friendship fill the enthusiastic mood to me that I could ever express. Firstly, I would like to thank to my seniors - Dr. Rajeshwary Ghosh and Dr. Pradipta Jana and Dr. Suman Bhattacharya who assisted enormously during the initial days of my research. I express my gratitude to Dr. Arjun Ghosh, Mr. Uttam Maji, Ms. Emili

Manna, Dr. Debipriya Banerjee, Dr. Amrita Banerjee, Dr. Nirmalya Acharya, Sk. Sajid Ali, Md. Mabidullah Khan, Mr. Sumit Sahoo, Mr. Balaram Manna, Ms. Aarifa Nazmeen, Ms. Nandita Medda and Ms. Suchismita Mukherjee, Ritesh Patra also deserves thanks. I also would like to thank all lab staff of Sinha Institute of Medical Science Technology, Vidyasagar University and Oriental Institute of Science & Technology for their assistance, support and encouragement.

Words are too large to explain the gratitude from the bottom of my heart for my parents, without their continuous supports, patience, inspiration and cardinal sacrifice, this day could have remained as dreams. I would not have contemplated this road if not for my parents, for their faith in me and allowing me as ambitious as I wanted. Their love provided my inspiration and was my driving force. Their unconditional love supported me to gain confidence and they always inspired me to start with a new enthusiasm. I am grateful to all my brothers and sisters and also to my friends and well-wishers who supported me at various ways. And last but not the least I would like to my heartiest thanks to Dept. of Science & Technology, Govt. of India, for providing me the (DST/INSPIRE Fellowship/2014/308) and Newton-Bhabha PhD programme (DST/INSPIRE Fellowship/NBHF/2017/9) organized by DST, Govt. of India and British Council and to DST, SERB for providing travel grant and to EMBL, Germany for providing EMBO travel award and to Proteomics Society of India for providing travel grant.
