“Times passes away but study never ends”

It's my great pleasure to thank all the people who have helped me and touch my feelings in their own way. I would like to grab this opportunity with great enjoyment and fulfillment to convey my gratitude to all of them for their kind help and support throughout my entire path to shape my career. A student like me coming From a State where IAS officers emerges i.e Bihar to an advance metropolitan city Pune for pursuing a career in research. Soon, the dream comes true when I got selected in an interview for a Ph.D at the premier institute National Centre for Cell Science (NCCS), Pune. Henceforth, I made a call to my mother and she congratulated me and recollected that my father believed till his last breath that I should persue my study because he envisioned that I would become a great officer. Even though my father is not around but his blessings are always with me and encourages me to do hard work with dedication. Due to his blessings today I am able to compile my thesis. My mother who continuously sacrificed since my childhood to this day for my better education, she lived alone after my father's demise for my better career. I salute to my mother for making me today who I am. During this journey of my Ph.D I lost my sister who was a brave girl and had been my strength during my earlier career and has always complemented me as an intelligent member of our family. Along with her my brothers also have been constant support towards my higher study.

Next, I would like to express my deepest regard and sincere gratitude to my research supervisor Dr. Bhaskar Saha for his continuous support, and allowing me to do work independently. His constant advice and valuable suggestions have supported my work throughout my tenure. It's a great honour for me to be a student of an exceptionally brilliant scientist. Sir, your writing skills, idea and depth of knowledge inspires me a lot and hope I could imbibe them in me which will help in my near future. I am immensely thankful to you for providing me reagents whenever required for my doctoral research. Thank you, sir, for selecting me in your lab and keeping faith in me to complete the work and allowing me to master the techniques like Cloning, PCR, ELISA, in vivo work and more.

My sincere thanks to my co-guide prof. Somenath Roy for accepting me as a registered student at your esteemed University, as well as for teaching me during course work and guiding me throughout my Ph.D tenure. Thank you very much, sir, for all your help at every stage throughout the period.

Further, I would like to express my gratitude to the directors of (NCCS) Dr. Shekhar C Mande (Former director) and present Director of (NCCS) Dr. Manoj Bhatt for selecting me and allowing me to use all the core facilities of National Centre for Cell Science.

I would like to express my sincere thanks to Dr. Debashish Mitra, Prof. J. K. Pal, and Prof. Ananta Ghosh sir for being a member of my Ph.D registration and evaluation committee and also providing me the valuable suggestion for my research work.

I am grateful to Dr. Ramanamurthy sir (scientist-in-charge of an experimental animal facility) and Dr. Bankar sir for providing me the mice whatever be the number and whenever required. My heartfelt thanks to Mr. Shaikhi, Mr. Thorat, Mr. Rahul, Mr. Harshal, Mr. Inamdar and Ms. Vaishali and all the staff of the animal house. I am very grateful to Shaikhi sir (such a nice person) for providing me mice whenever requested. At last to all the mice that I have sacrificed for my study, without which this work was impossible.

I would like to express my deepest gratitude to Dr. Deshpande sir (nice Human being) to motivate me for thesis writing. I would like to duly acknowledge to Department of Biotechnology (DBT) for providing me financial assistance throughout my doctoral research and my academic affiliation to VidyaSagar University Midnapore for awarding me Ph.D.

I would like to thank all the core facilities of NCCS including FACS facility, Confocal facility, Cell repository, Media section (Bhima Sir), Library, Computer section, washing section, Academic cell, Accounts section (Snehal mam), Director's office, Electric substation, Stores and Purchase (Hari Kumar sir), Administration, Instrument and Maintenance. I sincerely thank Sindagi Sir (nice person) for his unconditional help to repair the instruments whenever needed in the lab to make the workflow continuous without any disruption.

The words will fail to express my deepest gratitude to all the wonderful people and the great environment that I had in the lab, which made the journey so pleasurable. I would like to especially thank Debasree madam who helped me in mice handling and ELISA technique, Surya Bhaiya for PCR technique, Himanshu Bhaiya for cloning, Mukesh Bhaiya for help in all the in vivo study, Tabish Bhaiya for their help and moral support.

My heartfelt thanks to all my wonderful seniors in the lab who have made my stay in NCCS a memorable one. Thanks to Ankita mam, Sathish Bhaiya (the first time he helps me in in vitro infection), Arathi mam, Sagar Bhaiya their ever-helping attitude and their support are unforgettable. Thank you so much for everything you all have done for me. Thanks to Divanshu (Shukla Ji) for helping me in real-time PCR.

I would like to especially thanks Ashok (Patidar Samrajya) and Aditya (Lalya) to help me in in vivo and FACS analysis work especially for their valuable advice and help in various ways scientifically.

I am pleased to thank Soumya (Sumo) for first time helping me in RNA isolation, Shubhranshu, Yashwant (Chota), Swati, Sayoni, Neelam for making the working atmosphere so pleasant. I am grateful to Snehal, Rupali, and Pundalik (Puddu) for their unconditional help, which has appreciably reduced my work pressure.

My heartfelt thanks go to all my wonderful juniors Hima, Akshata, Prashant, Aarka (Pagla). Once again thanks to Ashok (helping nature) for their help in in vivo and FACS work.

Thanks to All NCCS friends that I have gained during my Ph.D. Arpan, Pawan, Rama, Kailash, Raju, Raj for their help and constant support. I would like to thank all my Vidyasagar University friends especially Aditi for her continuous support.

I am thankful to my M.Sc. friends especially Anand, Poonam, Ranju for their help and B.Sc friends like Arvind (Guptaji), Deepak (Babu), Panraj, Neeraj (Sharp mind), Mohit for their constant support and motivation for higher study.

Finally, the acknowledgement would never complete without thanking almighty God who gave me strength, will, power, wisdom, patience to walk the beautiful road of my Ph.D life.
