Completion of this doctoral thesis was possible with the support of several people. I would like to convey my heartfelt thanks to all of them. Firstly, I would like to express my sincere gratitude to my guide Dr. Debasish Biswas, Assistant Professor, Department of Business Administration, Vidyasagar University, for the continuous support towards my Ph.D. study and related research, I admire his patience, motivation, and immense knowledge in the respective field. He has always made himself available to clarify my doubts amidst his busy schedules. His zeal for perfection, has helped me to complete the research with the finest detail, which has elevated my confidence. His guidance has helped me in all the aspects of the research along with the endeavor to complete the thesis successfully. I consider this a great opportunity to complete my doctoral degree under his guidance and to learn from his research expertise. I could not have imagined having a better advisor and mentor for my Ph.D. study, other than him.

Thanks a lot to you Sir, for all your guidance!

I would also like to express my sincere gratitude to the HR professionals of FMCG organizations who have extended their cooperation in obtaining the primary data for this research. Different insights obtained from the respective fields in HR have made this an extensive research work. An ample amount of encouragement and support extended by my colleagues have helped me to complete the project on time. The critical observations from them have given me an opportunity to provide a dynamic perspective to the research work.

Nonetheless, the inspiration from my family members has continuously kept my spirits high towards accomplishing this research work to its best possible means.
