

Acknowledgement

I am deeply grateful to my Ph. D. supervisor Prof. Ashis Kumar Paul for his constant encouragement and guidance throughout my endeavor towards Ph. D. I am thankful for the knowledge I gained from his many helpful advices.

I wish to express my sincere appreciation towards the faculty and the staff of the Department of Geography, Vidyasagar University for the many instances of assistance they extended towards me in my journey to complete my research work. I deeply appreciate the facilities provided to me while I toiled in pursuit of my Ph. D. I am thankful to my colleagues in the Department of Geography, Asutosh College for their kind support.

The research involved extensive fieldwork, which required several instruments and learned individuals managing them. I wish to express my heartfelt gratitude towards the aforementioned departments in Vidyasagar University and Asutosh College for providing me the required instruments, and the students of the Department of Geography, Vidyasagar University, who accompanied me in the field visits and assisted me in collecting samples and recording data. I am thankful to the Scientific Research Laboratory for the analysis of the soil samples collected during my fieldwork.

I wish to thank the Indian Meteorological Department (IMD) and the Indian Council of Agricultural Research (ICAR) for providing me the past climate data, which were required in my research. I am thankful to the Kolkata Port Trust for providing me the tidal data required in my work. I would like to express my appreciation towards the National Remote Sensing Centre (NRSC) for providing me Cartosat 2A digital elevation model (DEM) of the study area. I would also like to thank the Central Ground Water Board (CGWB) for providing me with the data on groundwater depth in the study area. My thanks to the Purbasha Eco Helpline Society for supplying me with valuable information related to Sundarban. I am grateful to the local people of the study area and the West Bengal Forest Department for their helpful cooperation during my field visits.

I am indebted to Dr. Kalyan Rudra, Chairman of West Bengal Pollution Control Board, for his many invaluable advices throughout my Ph. D. work. I learned a lot from him, and I wish to express my heartfelt appreciation for that.

My pursuit of Ph. D. would not have been possible without my family's constant and unconditional support, motivation and understanding. No word can truly express my gratitude for their untiring backing and endless encouragement in my life.

I am thankful to my friends for their company, the many insightful discussions we had and the helpful information provided by them. I am indebted to all my teachers for the lessons they taught and for inspiring me.

Finally, I wish to express my deepest reverence and gratitude to the Almighty God for the blessings, strength and wisdom bestowed upon me, and for being the guiding light in my life.
